MARJORIE STRAYER TO HEAD THE LIVINGSTON GROUP'S EDUCATION AND NON-PROFIT EFFORTS

Appointment promises further growth for the Livingston Group and clients

For Immediate Release
August 12, 2004

Washington D.C. - The Livingston Group, LLC (TLG) recently announced the appointment of Marjorie Strayer to the position of Director for the firm's Education and Non-Profit Practice Area. TLG boasts a solid record of results achieved on behalf of such prestigious clients as Tulane University, the Partnership for a Drug-Free America, Girls and Boys Town, Collegiate Funding and Case Western Reserve University. The Livingston Group has an extensive network with federal institutions involved in the higher education and non-profit arenas, including authorizing and appropriating committees, the Department of Education and other executive branch agencies.

"The Livingston Group has developed an experienced group of professionals working to serve their clients in the education and non-profit sector," explained Bob Livingston, TLG founding partner and former Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. "With Marjorie's leadership, I look forward to the continued success of the Education and Non-Profit Practice Area as we assist clients in securing federal funding for research, physical expansion and technological capability."

Strayer served as Chief of Staff to Rep. Heather Wilson (R-NM) and Rep. Randy Tate (R-WA). During the 1998 election cycle, she built strong relationships with many Members of Congress and senior staff as the director of incumbent retention for the National Republican Congressional Committee.

TLG was created in March 1999 and provides comprehensive public affairs, government relations and lobbying services on a global basis. Recognized as the one of the fastest growing lobbying firms in Washington, D.C., TLG represents clients in seven practice areas: Defense Technologies/ Homeland Security; Education and Non-Profits; Energy, Environment, and Natural Resources; Health Care and Pharmaceuticals; International Relations; Science, Technology and Telecom; and Transportation, Shipbuilding and Shipping.
